It's all in the details - the energy, the aesthetics and a clever c2020 architectural design of tone and texture in a custom Lumea Building Co. prodigy to leave you spellbound?

Set on a newly established cul-de-sac in the unofficial antique capital of South Australia, this home turns heads from the outset and widens eyes from within, and John Adam Architects - the masters of maximising minimalism - triumph again embracing solar, double glazing, and louvred ventilation enhancing a 5-bedroom deconstructed footprint where form, function, and finesse march as one.

The home leads with Blackbutt timber floors and an escape to parental seclusion - a wing granting walk-in robe and
